1. Art Exhibition: Légendes de mon Acadie by Rebecca Belliveau Opens Dec 14

In this series of seven legends, Rebecca Belliveau tells the tales based on history that she has documented, and sometimes experienced, expressing them from the viewpoint of Colette Savoie. Colette, Rebecca's grandmother, had a family heritage which included the traditional skill of fortune telling. She is the voice of these authentic Acadian legends, each from a region of Acadia: Bouctouche, Sainte-Anne-de-Kent, Kouchibouguac, Richibouctou, Shediac, Memramcook, and Miramichi. The visual representations displayed encompass the scenic and breathtaking beauty of these locations with a portion of the legend visually integrated. Rebecca Belliveau, who resides in Moncton, uses a combination of photographic elements and textured acrylic mediums. View her work online at: <http://www.rebeccabelliveau.com/>.

The launch of this art exhibition, Légendes de mon Acadie, will take place on Thursday, December 14 at 6:30pm at the Galerie des Bâtisseurs of the Centre communautaire Sainte-Anne (CCSA). It will be on display until January 25. The show with Les gars du nord will follow this opening, at 7:30pm in the Théâtre Bernard-Poirier of the CCSA.

They have been singing together for about 10 years, performing sacred and popular music in three-, four-, and five-part harmony under the direction of Sharon Pond.

8. odd sundays at Corked Wine Bar Dec 17

On December 17, odd sundays will offer an opportunity for you, our faithful patrons, to read your favourite seasonal celebratory works. Plan to gather with us at Corked Wine Bar, located at 83 Regent Street, at 2pm to be with all our friends as we enter into the winter season. Greet Charlotte, get a book draw ticket and above all else, add your name to our special open mic list. We have asked a couple of our special guests from over the years to begin the festivities and give us all some motivation.

Don't be misled about the celebration concept: Your poem or prose about this time of year will be a reflection of your experience or history of the season. You might choose the brilliant daytime or early onset darkness or something about snow, how you love it, or hate it. And of course there are a number of social festivals to mark the occasion. Let your imagination guide you.

The "all-open-mic" set will stick to the usual three-minute limit. But since we're offering this special opportunity for all to wax poetic about this time of year, our tolerance level will be loosened a bit. We hope to see you there. Back to top.

10. Shivering Songs presents Tales of a Charlie Brown Christmas with the Jerry Granelli Trio at The Playhouse Dec 18

December 18, 7:30pm

Shivering Songs presents Tales of a Charlie Brown Christmas with the Jerry Granelli Trio

In 1965, drummer Jerry Granelli, the newest member of the Vince Guaraldi Trio, was joined by Fred Marshall on bass in a San Francisco studio. In just a three-hour session they recorded the soundtrack for a scrappy little animated Christmas special featuring the Peanuts gang. Jerry is the only surviving member of the Vince Guaraldi Trio lineup that made that fateful recording.

He gathered a new trio, consisting of Simon Fisk on bass and Chris Gestrin on piano, and began to perform the classic and familiar piece of music. During the show, Jerry Granelli and his trio spend 90 minutes drawing from the Charlie Brown Christmas soundtrack, while sharing the stage with a local children's choir. Back to top.

15. Winter Lecture Series - The Irish Identity: Independence, History and Literature

Presented by The Irish Canadian Cultural Association of New Brunswick, this is the second half of a video lecture series that began in September. It is not essential to have taken the first half of the lectures in order appreciate the remaining lectures. This series of lectures explores Irish literature from the standpoint of how Irish history helped forge a distinct Irish identity and how this identity and tumultuous history both informed and influenced the development and works of the great Irish writers.

The lectures began in the fall of 2017 by briefly covering early Celtic writings and the work of the early monasteries. The lectures then followed, and will continue to follow, the developing Irish identity as evidenced through the works of emerging writers through the centuries until arriving upon the period of prolific Irish creative writing of the 19th and 20th centuries. While particular emphasis is placed on the works of W.B. Yeats and James Joyce, other writers whose works that will be examined in the context of the events happening around them include, but are not limited to, Sean O'Casey, Lady Gregory, Patrick Kavanaugh, and Seamus Heaney.

Pre-registration is required by December 15/2017 for the Winter Semester. Lectures 10-18 will be held on Tuesdays, from Jan 2 to Feb 27 from 7-9pm. The fee is $10 and includes all 9 lectures. The Video Lecturer: will be Dr. Mark C. Connor, PhD, Professor of English, Washington Lee University. Our Local Moderator is Richard Hull, M.A., English, English Faculty of Fredericton High School.

Payment may be made by electronic funds transfer by emailing your payment to info@newirelandnb.ca (remember to also send an email with the password to collect the money transfer) or by making out a cheque to ICCANB and mailing it to:
